Completion of remodeling and extension activities at the D. M. Sechler Implement and Carriase company, was announced today. The plant will resume operations Monday. The list of improvements installed represent an expenditure of about $15,000 and include machines and appliances to increase the efficiency of the plant.

The carriage company has just closed the most successful year from the standpoint of sales volume, since its incorporation 31 years ago, according to T. M. Sechler, president of the company. He accredits much of the past year's success to the ability and energy of J. M. Robinson, who has just completed his first year as general manager. The plant under Mr. Robinson's management overcame the handicap of the previous year in which unprecedented difficulties in procuring material and workmen, were encountered, and is now the first year as general in which unprecedented difficulties in procuring material and workmen, were encountered, and is now the first year as general and workmen, were encountered, and is now the first year as general and workmen, were encountered, and is now the first year as general and workmen, were encountered, and is now the first year as general and workmen, were encountered, and is now the first year as general and workmen, were encountered, and is now the first year as general and workmen, were encountered, and is now the first year as general and workmen, were encountered, and is now the first year as general and workmen, were encountered, and is now the first year as general and workmen, were encountered, and is now the first year and the very the first year and the very the first the post of colleges to the very the first year and the very the first the post of calley of the probability of an armistic and procured to the very the first year and the very the first year and the preparing to establish an entirely prior to any sign of a rally.
